ACTIVITY 3 : Where Do I Belong?

Let us get started! Welcome to another learning activity that will help you understand more about adverbs.

DIRECTIONS: Based on the previous discussion, you have learned that are three types of adverbs. In this activity, read the passage below and look for the adverbs, and write them in their proper group.

The Hard Climb

Daily progress was painfully slow. In the morning, a snowstorm was raging. But the mountain climbers enduringly proceeded. They wanted to succeed at once. One of them was blown off his feet by the strong wind. He had to crawl fast on hands and knees.

The mountain climbers passed by the torn and frozen remains of a tent set earlier. The guides arrived firstly at the little sloping area found before the final camp. The two climbers followed next. Soon they arrived at midday.

Their first task was to improve the campsite. Chipping out a platform in the ice-bound rock was perhaps the hardest work they had to do. The wind whipped at them violently.

It was really a hard climb that never was, before them, did successfully.

Congratulations you did a good job! Proceed to the next activity.

SIGNAL WORDS

Now that you have mastered adverbs, let us check your understanding on the use of the signal words in writing directions.

ACTIVITY 4: Practice and Learn

Direction: Read the paragraph below. Then, write simple directions on “What To Do in Case of Fire” using signal words First, Next, Then, Afterwards, Finally inside the graphic organizer below.

What to Do in Case of Fire

Fire sometimes becomes man’s best enemy. And due to man’s carelessness, fire causes us lots of damages. When fire breaks at home or in school, what should you do? How should you act? The best way to fight a fire is to remain calm. Call the fire department in your place for help. Help put out the fire at once with a pail of water, wet clothes, depending on what things caught by the fire. Keep calm and don’t panic. Help secure the belongings that are not affected by fire. Stay in a safe place while the firemen are putting out the fire.
